

KENNESAW STATE UNIVERSITY COLLEGE OF THE ARTS

artsKSU

2023
2024
SEASON

ABOUT US ARTIST ADVISORY COUNCIL CONTACT DONATE ARTIST RESOURCES

SUBSCRIBE

ARTS ATL

YOUR SOURCE
FOR THE ARTS IN ATLANTA

See

Jose Ibarra Rizo's Depth Within a Gaze is part of MOCA GA's Working Artist Prize program this weekend. (Photo by Jose Ibarra Rizo, "Nallely", 2023, pigment print)

What to see, do and hear: Stلالuna, Beacon Dance, Black Art in America, Vega Quartet, more

ARTSATL STAFF × MARCH 28, 2024

ART+DESIGN

The winner of The Museum of Contemporary Art of Georgia's prestigious Working Artist Project, Jose Ibarra Rizo, opens a new show of photography titled Depth Within a Gaze on Friday, March 29. Per the artist, the current exhibition "continues my exploration of . . . the migrant experience in the American South. This latest body of work dives deeper into these narratives, embracing themes of labor, land and the ever-evolving South." General admission is $5.

Friday and ongoing

::

Presented by Artadia, Atlanta Contemporary plays host to "Atlanta for Artists" a conversation with Courtney Bombeck, founder of CO-OP Art Atlanta; Jacob O'Kelley, artistic director of Swan Coach House Gallery; and Sheila Pree Bright, 2021 Atlanta Artadia awardee. The panel discusses questions including, "How can and will Atlanta remain a thriving hub for artists?" The panel will be moderated by Atlanta Contemporary Executive Director Floyd Hall and Artadia Program Director Bora Kim. Saturday, March 30. Free.

Saturday only

::

Closing this weekend is Our Image Is Our Message: Works by Women Artists at Black Art in America Gallery & Gardens in East Point. Traci Mims and Diyah Najah are featured, along with other painters and printmakers exploring a range of figurative and abstract work that "incorporates the lived experiences, observations and aspirations of Black women artists through time." Free.

Ongoing through Saturday

::